Funding for your training
program or placement

Apply online at miga.com.au

MIGA's 2023 Doctors in Training (DIT) Grants Program provides funding to assist Doctors in Training whilst pursuing specialist training opportunities in Australia and abroad.

Supporting skills development amongst Doctors in Training

With the continuing theme of "Supporting skills development amongst Doctors in Training", the Program aims to:

- Promote the development of medical expertise amongst doctors practising in Australia.
- Assist the proliferation of enhanced clinical skills across Australia to improve the standard of care available to patients.
- Ease the financial burden on doctors seeking to undertake additional training.

Each year we are encouraged by the dedication doctors show towards expanding their skill set. Since the Program's launch in 2008, we are proud to have assisted more than 50 doctors with training placements around the world.

"St John's Institute of Dermatology is one of the world's largest centres for patients with skin disease, managing common and rare conditions requiring treatment not available elsewhere in the world. The opportunity to train there was a true privilege and I was genuinely excited by the clinical experiences, academic opportunities, and the personal development as a Fellow in the UK."

Dr William Cranwell – DIT Grant recipient
Fellowship in Clinical Research
St John's Institute of Dermatology, London

The grants

MIGA is excited to offer six individual DIT Grants of $10,000.

The grants are intended to assist doctors meet the costs incurred in pursuing their training opportunity. Expenses can include travel, accommodation, program fees and other associated costs.

Who is eligible?

The MIGA 2023 DIT Grants Program is open to doctors who are:

- Members of, and insured with, MIGA at the time of application and funding of the grant, and
- Either:
 - In their 1st to 8th post graduate year; OR
 - Enrolled in an accredited training program with an Australian medical college or society or have completed this training within the last two years. For these doctors, the training program or placement for which they are seeking funding must be beyond the scope of training that is prescribed by the medical college or society.

The doctor should be undertaking the training to enhance their qualifications and benefit their career and local community.

Examples of eligible training opportunities:

- Specialised fellowships
- Indigenous community placements
- Placements with volunteer organisations
- Undertaking research in a specific area of medicine
- Postgraduate study
- Pursuit of advanced training which is in addition to that provided within the doctor's accredited college or society training program.
